JS Media & NAS Media are the largest organiser of recruitment & apprenticeship exhibitions throughout the United Kingdom. The events regularly attract TV coverage and high profile companies exhibit on a regular basis. Each project is broken down into 3x sections; the production, installation & breakdown.

Production: In the run up to each exhibition we produce approximately 350x boards per show. The boards are supplied on 3mm foamex and these, when joined together, create the client stands as shown on the visuals.

Installation: Our fully qualified installation team arrive on site in readiness to start the installation and after a full project brief it's all systems go. Post installation we walk round with the client to ensure they are happy and if any changes are needed. During the exhibition we make ourselves available to manage any changes that are needed.

Breakdown: At the close of each event and when permission has been given we will breakdown each shell scheme and transport back to our factory.

We have been working with JS Media, on this project, for the past 2 years and have worked extremely hard to establish an excellent & effective working relationship. In the run up to each event we realistically work as 1x large team which is the only way to successfully deliver a project of this size and complexity.
